

Lost - Season 4 - Episode 10
Something Nice Back Home

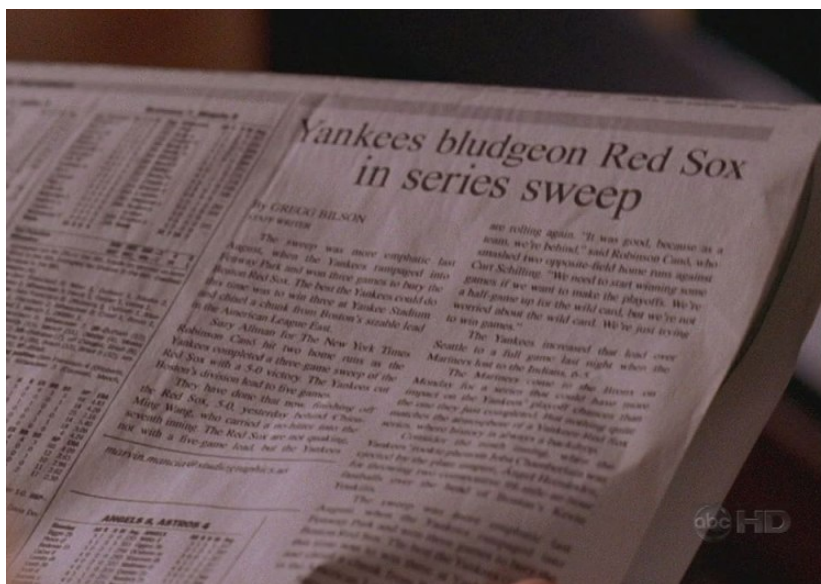

Title:

Morse Code speaking Bernard tells Jack to 'Think of something nice back home' before knocking him out with chlorophorm.

1. New Jack tattoos.

2. Yankees sweep Red Sox. The paper is from August 2007, which would mean it is almost 3 years after the plane crashed on the island.

3. Aaron's new mobile is not Oceanic planes like they were in the hatch. This time they are planets and stars.

4. I thought the most interesting part about this episode was Miles. Miles heard the creepy whispers. Only this time, the creepy whispers were dead Danielle and dead Carl. Maybe the whispers all along have been dead people? More importantly, I now really believe Miles talks to dead people. Just like John Edward. Both are fictional and kind of scum-baggy.

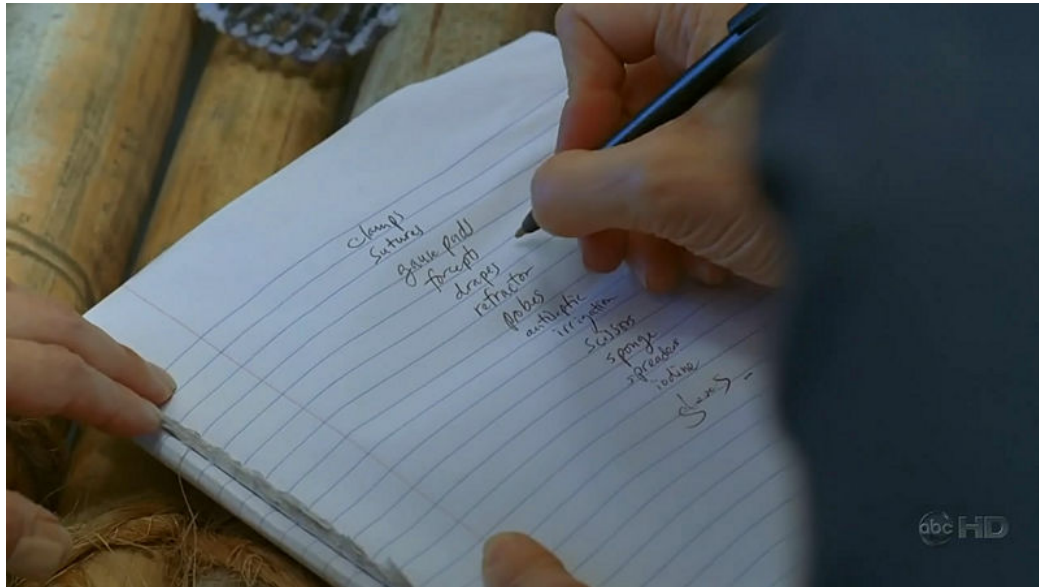

5. In my new favorite nickname ever, Sawyer calls Miles 'Donger'. Donger, as in Sixteen Candles "No more yankee my wankee!"

6. The book Jack is reading to Aaron is (no big shock here) Alice in Wonderland. Wizard of Oz, Alice in Wonderland, and Star Wars references have been all over the place since the show started.

7. For instance, the toy Jack steps on is none other than the Millennium Falcon. (The fastest ship in the galaxy, mind you. It made the Kessel run in less than 12 parsecs. Bet you can't do that.)

8. Here is the list that Juliet asks for :

9. Drunk Jack screams at hot Kate, "You're not even related to him!" (Referring to Aaron.) I would have to guess that this little drunken rant means the Jack knows he is Aaron's uncle. Also, Claire saying 'Dad' when she sees Christian obviously prove she knows her father well enough to recognize him.

10. The prescription that Jack asks for is the same one that Hurley is told to take. Clonazepam is the drug and it is usually prescribed to assist patients who suffer panic attacks.

11. Lapidus cool phone that clearly shows trouble is on the way:

12. Veronica (not Betty) is still Aaron's nanny. Veronica was Aaron's nanny during Kate's trial.

13. If we are putting together the Kate / Jack flashforwards, I would say that the trial would be first, the episode last night would be the middle story and last years finale with Jack screaming 'we have to get back Kate!' would be last in chronological order.

14. The x-ray pictures that Jack is given show a problem in someone's L4 vertebrae. This is the same place that Ben's tumor was that Jack removed.

15. When Juliet says that 'Kate will be your nurse', Jack responds that 'It wouldn't be the first time.' If you are wondering, he is referring to the first episode where he talked Kate through stitching him up.

16. Where did Christian take Claire? Why wouldn't she take Aaron? Did she go to the temple? These are not rhetorical questions. You are required to answer.

17. What was Kate doing for Sawyer? Once again, not rhetorical. Stop being so lazy. I expect 5 page essays from all of you with footnotes and a bibliography. Seriously though, this scene confirmed that Kate is kind of slutty. No no no... It confirmed that our non-Oceanic 6 pals are still hanging out on the magic island.

18. Jack and Claire see dead people (well, dead person, although I still say we never saw the body. The coffin was empty when the plane crashed. I think Christian is in on this whole Ben / Widmore / crazy magic island thing.)

19. Artwork on the fridge. (Kate is completely pants-less this entire episode. Good for her!)

Best Line:

Sawyer to Miles : "It's way to early for Chinese"